THINKING	Lots of respectable people are saying good things about this website. I wonder if I would get value from it. I can't think of any other websites like it.	If I decide I want to use Exercism I should make sure it's the best website for me to use. I wonder if it's free? What's the process for getting feedback? Who gives feedback? Do I have time for this?	Can I be annonymous? I don't want peope to know what I'm learning? Will others be able to see my profile? I don't understand what level I'm at right now. Will I be asked for money later?	Have I got time for this? Ok this is helpful, I wouldn't have known what to do if I had skipped this step. Ah, I'm familiar with this practice question. Ok, this is simple, I can do this.	I'm familiar with some but not all of the concepts in this quesiton. I need more help on this question. How does Exercism know which questions are at the right level for me? How long do I need to wait for feedback? Can I opt not to get feedback (or all of specific questions)? Can I ask people within my social network to review my code? This problem is too hard, can I request another one?
